THESE SOCIETIES have their headquarters in the building of the American Unitarian Association, 25 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. The names of the principal officers of each society will be found on the first pages of the sections devoted to their respective organizations. The work and purpose of these societies may be stated in brief as follows:

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION

THE ASSOCIATION was founded in 1825, its object being "to diffuse the knowledge and promote the interests of pure Christianity." In furtherance of this purpose the Association publishes books, reports and tracts; supports missionaries; establishes and maintains churches, and aids in supporting ministers; assists students in preparing for the ministry; and helps fellow-citizens of foreign birth and speech in entering upon their American life. It administers endowments for the benefit of schools and churches of the Unitarian order; for the relief of poor and worthy ministers and the widows of ministers; for the benefit of schools for colored people in the South; and for many other beneficent purposes.

THE ALLIANCE OF UNITARIAN WOMEN

THE ALLIANCE was organized in 1890, and has for its aims primarily to quicken the religious life of the Unitarian churches, and to bring the women of the denomination into closer acquaintance, co-operation and fellowship; to promote local organizations of women for missionary and denominational work; to bring them into helpful association; to collect and disseminate information regarding all matters of interest to the denomination, such as needs of local societies, facilities for meeting these needs, work to be done, the collection and distribution of money, and in general to devise ways and means for the most efficient usefulness of the women of the Unitarian fellowship.

UNITARIAN WORD AND WORK is regularly issued by the Publication Department of the American Unitarian Association on the first day of each month from October to June inclusive. Subscriptions can begin with any issue. Single copies, 7 cents; Subscription prices: individual subscriptions, 50 cents; in groups of 50 or more from one church, 40 cents each. MINISTERIAL PERSONALS

Rev. G. I. Keirn, who, since 1919, has been minister of the Unitarian Church at Atlanta, died on October 25. Before coming into our fellowship, Mr. Keirn was a Universalist minister.

Transfers. Rev. F. A. Powell from Braintree, Mass., to Dallas, Tex., and Rev. R. C. Leonard from Colorado Springs, Col., to Bedford, Mass.

Resignations. Rev. W. W. Peck at West Upton, Mass., Rev. A. Schoenfeldt at Charleston, W. Va., Rev. D. M. Wilson at Dover, Mass., and Rev. H. Begun at Bedford, Mass.

Supplies. Rev. A. D. K. Shurtleff has taken charge at Carlisle, Mass., and Rev. W. S. Swisher has charge of the afternoon service at Lincoln, Mass.

Installations. The last month has witnessed an unusual number of installation services in our churches. Among these may be mentioned: Rev. A. E. Wilson at Dorchester, September 20; Rev. J. H. Hooper at Florence, Mass., September 24; Rev. R. M. L. Holt at Walpole, N. H., October 5; Rev. B. Leavitt at Pasadena, Cal., October 5; Rev. J. N. Mark at Fall River, Mass., October 8; Rev. E. L. Moses at Pittsfield, Mass., October 19; Rev. R. B. Wintersteen at Uxbridge, Mass., October 20; Rev. H. M. Gesner at Marlborough, Mass., October 22; Rev. F. R. Gale at Dorchester, October 22; Rev. A. Thomson at Vancouver, B. C., October 25; Rev. D. F. Mowery at Newport, R. I., October 31. Dr. Eliot represented the fellowship of our churches at the installations of Messrs. Mark, Wintersteen, Gesner and Mowery; Dr. Cornish at the installation of Mr. Holt; Dr. Simons at the installation of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Moses; Dr. Lawrance at the installation of Mr. Hooper and Mr. Gale, and Mr. Wetherell at the installation of Mr. Leavitt and Mr. Thomson.

BUILDINGS.

The three dedication services of October were incidents of note in our fellowship. The charming little Meeting House at Walpole, N. H., was dedicated on October 5, and on the afternoon of the same day the minister (Mr. Holt) was installed, the President and Secretary of the Association and Rev. E. C. Davis of Lancaster, Pa., taking part in the services. The noble parish house of the church in Worcester, Mass., was dedicated on the evening of October 15. The Treasurer of the Association and Dr. Simons represented our fellowship-at-large and there was a large and enthusiastic attendance of members of the parish and friends of the city. On the same night the new building of the West Side Unitarian Church in New York was dedicated, the addresses being given by the President of the Association, the Field Secretary for the Middle States (Mr. Hunt), and Dr. M. St.C. Wright. The new building is admirably planned and ample for all present needs. It is an exceedingly strategic position and we may well look forward to a large future for the Society and its work.

The reconstructed and practically new building of the Community Church in New York will be occupied this month. A splendid auditorium has been provided within the walls of the old Church of the Messiah and the Society has now purchased the house at 40 East 35th Street, which is right behind the church building and which will be connected with it and used as a parish house. A complete renovation has been going on in the interior of the First Church in Philadelphia, Pa., and the members of the congregation find a new and much brighter and more attractive place of worship. The interior of the church at Santa Barbara, Cal., has also been undergoing complete redecoration and Wendte Hall in the parish house of the church at Oakland, Cal., is now in a new dress. The new parsonages at Fresno, Cal., and Eugene, Ore., have been occupied by happy ministers. The organ in the church at San Diego, Cal., has been thoroughly repaired. The reconstructed church and the new Parish House at Newton Centre, Mass., are nearly completed. The cheerful auditorium is now in use, the brick and cement work on the outside is finished and the interior of the Parish House will be ready soon. The Society will have a very attractive and convenient new home. The commodious new Parish House of the Society in Gloucester, built on the lot adjoining the church, is finished and will be dedicated on the evening of November 8. In the church in Fort Collins, Col., a new lighting system has been installed, the heating plant repaired and the interior retinted. The chancel of the First Parish Church in Brookline has been beautifully redecorated and refurnished.

CHURCH EXTENSION DEPARTMENT.

During October the Secretary of the Department (Dr. Simons) has been seldom in the office at No. 25 Beacon Street. After attendance at the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Meadville Theological School, he went to Jamestown, N. Y., to advise with the church concerning a financial campaign to pay for the remodelling of the church building. In 1885 the Independent Congregational Church Society of Jamestown was organized and purchased an old Methodist church building, in which Unitarian services have since been held. In recent years it has been evident that extensive repairs and an effort to beautify the building would have to be made. A year ago this work was undertaken but unexpected difficulties were encountered which have practically doubled the cost of rebuilding. While the interior furnishing is still incomplete, the building is perhaps the most attractive structure in the city of Jamestown and our people may well be proud of it. It is a beautiful church home, and it will help greatly to give our "household of faith" a larger influence in the city.

After Jamestown (where he returned on October 8th to preach) the Secretary of the Department went to Toledo, where our church has begun a daring enterprise in church building. It is not daring in design, being a beautiful example of the colonial meeting house, but it is daring in its challenge, not only to the present but to the future. The Directors of the Association had commissioned the Secretary to offer real service to this enterprise, and it is a satisfaction to report that the work of building is now underway. The whole denomination will be benefited by the efforts and loving sacrifices made in behalf of the cause in Toledo.

The many friends of Rev. F. M. Bennett will regret to hear of his illness which has compelled him to relinquish his work at Youngstown for a while. The Secretary has devoted some time there preaching and counselling with the minister and people about plans for the future.

DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION.

Another book in the Beacon Course, Peter and Paul and Their Friends, by Miss Helen Nicolay, is now ready for our schools. As its title shows, it deals with the beginnings of the Christian Church and presents the work of the apostles, especially that of the two named in its title. With this Manual as a guide, teachers will be able to make the book of Acts vital to their pupils, and the great apostles seem real people who had stirring adventures, and did a mighty work in the world.

These lessons were prepared and used by the author with her own class of young people in our church in Washington, D. C. They were tried out in several other schools in different places, east and west, and always with satisfaction to teacher and pupils alike. All our workers who have introduced the Beacon Course into their schools will welcome this new volume in the Course and will be assured that it was well worth waiting for.

Miss Nicolay has placed her fine abilities and her literary gifts at the service of her fellow-workers in our church schools. With her book as a guide, our young people should be helped to develop the Christian qualities which add strength and charm to life.

The field workers for the Department have been engaged in various important duties. Miss Henderson has given a month's service at Enfield, New Hampshire, and another at Wilmington, Delaware. Miss Cook was for two weeks with the church in Jamestown, New York, and has been engaged during October in serving both the First Church and St. John's in Cincinnati, Ohio. The gain in size and general efficiency in the church schools visited by our field workers is marked. Echoes of the benefits of the Shoals Institute reach the office in reports from the churches. Dr. Lawrance preached the sermon at a very impressive service of installation of officers and teachers of the church school at Wollaston. In Medfield, Mass., the morning service on September 24th was a joint meeting of the school and congregation. A service of consecration of the church-school workers was held, followed by a sermon by Dr. Buck.

All the members of the Department have been busily engaged, speaking at local conferences and Alliance meetings, and holding institutes. Mr. Fairley has met representatives of several of our church schools one evening each week of October in Philadelphia, and has given addresses in Germantown, Pennsylvania, Elizabeth and Rutherford, New Jersey, and at the Fourth Church in Brooklyn, New York.

The local institutes spoken of in the October number of WORD AND WORK have already demonstrated their usefulness. Those so far held or to be held in the immediate future are the following: At West Newton, including the churches at Newton, Newton Centre, Wellesley Hills, Natick, Watertown and Waltham; at Hopedale, including the churches at Uxbridge, Mendon, West Upton and Grafton; at Dedham, with the churches at Canton, Dover, Hyde Park, Medfield, Needham, Randolph, Roslindale, Sharon, Sherborn, South Natick, Walpole, West Roxbury and Westwood co-operating. Similar arrangements have been made with Lowell, Melrose and with Elizabeth, N. J.

The movement so far as it has gone promises to be exceedingly helpful and points toward a closer contact between the Department of Religious Education and the churches in ways that are likely to be most helpful.

The Autumn Meeting of the Unitarian Sunday School Society was held in the West Side Church, New York City, Rev. Charles F. Potter, minister, on Wednesday, October 18. The program for the meeting was arranged by Rev. Edwin Fairley, of the Department of Religious Education, and was held at this time and place at the joint invitation of the Metropolitan Conference and the West Side Church, this meeting being a part of the dedication ceremonies of the new church building. The President of the Society, Dr. William I. Lawrance, presided and made the opening address, speaking of changes that have taken place in religious education during the last half-century. Professor Thomas H. Briggs, of Teachers College, Columbia University, gave an address on the application of modern methods in general education to the teaching of religion. A half-hour's conference followed, conducted by the President of the Society, in which the matter chiefly considered was the usefulness and methods of weekday instruction in religion. The closing address was given by Dr. Milton S. Littlefield, of the Corona Congregational Church, New York, on Worship in the Church School, in which he gave valuable suggestions with regard to the choice and right method of using Scripture, hymns and prayers.

BOOKS WANTED.

The newly organized school of the Unitarian Church in Nashville, Tenn., needs from twelve to twenty copies of Heart and Voice. Could any of our schools spare a few used copies or help purchase new ones as a gift to this school? Please notify the Department of Religious Education and receive direction for shipment.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP.

I wish I might make the readers of Word and Work see the places which I have lately visited that they might enjoy the women in our Alliance Branches as I did. First, Minneapolis, women from that beautiful city and St. Paul were glad to receive greetings from Boston women. A visit to the farming community at Hanska, Minn., was an event, for the Alliance is entirely Norwegian. Mr. and Mrs. Norman, our minister and his wife, made Mrs. Laidlaw (the director for Minnesota) and me welcome to their house and we talked with the Norwegian men and women and children and walked about the pretty place with a feeling of being in Norway, except that the Unitarian folk are loyal Americans. As Mr. Norman drove us about for almost an hour he told us that we had never been off land owned by Unitarians.

The Duluth Alliance members were hospitably glad to see a Boston visitor and made her feel their cordial desire to co-operate in Alliance work. In Virginia, Minn., the iron mining country, the Finnish minister and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lappala, gave me an opportunity to meet their people, and I was also entertained by the women of the English-speaking People's Church, which has lately affiliated with the Unitarians. Underwood, Minn., is another farming community with the membership of the Alliance entirely Norwegian, an active group of women who carry on their work, with preaching once a month by the Danish minister from St. Cloud.

In Winnipeg the English-speaking women combined with the Icelandic Alliance in giving me a reception and all were heartily interested in all I could tell them of our work as a whole. I had the good fortune to be in Winnipeg on a Sunday when a new minister, Rev. James H. Hart, was installed, with the sermon by Rev. Horace Westwood, under whose leadership the beautiful church was built some years ago. It is a journey of twenty-four hours from Winnipeg to Edmonton and there is no Unitarian church nearer. The Edmonton people, with no settled minister, are fortunate in having Sunday services conducted by Prof. Alexander of the University of Alberta, who interests the students, many of whom come to church. The building has got only as far as the basement, and there the plucky group of Unitarians hold their Sunday services in one room and their Alliance meetings in another, both of them neatly painted and prettily furnished, so that though only a basement it is a building which does us credit. But think of the loneliness of a church eight hundred miles from its nearest Unitarian neighbor, and when an opportunity arises to express friendliness to Edmonton, seize that opportunity!

A journey of three days and three nights brought me back to Ottawa, the capital of the Dominion of Canada, where I was shown the beautiful city in the morning, and met the loyal Alliance women in the afternoon. A brief stop in hospitable Montreal brought the journey to an end.

There are endless possibilities for our liberal religion in all the places of which I have spoken, the great Canadian Northwest, especially, offering an opportunity to men and women who have never known the meaning of Unitarianism and who welcome it eagerly when it is presented to them.

Lucy Lowell.

EXECUTIVE BOARD.

The regular meeting of the Executive Board was held Friday, October 13, Miss Lowell presiding. Thirty-four were present, including two branch presidents.

The Board heard with great interest from Miss Lowell an account of her recent trip of over 4,000 miles to the Northwest. The story appears in another column. Letters were received showing how much these visits of the Alliance President mean to the branches, in particular to those which are "splendidly isolated."

The Social Service Committee was authorized to issue a letter to the branches asking co-operation with the Unitarian Temperance Society in its efforts to secure an intelligent vote on the subject of prohibition enforcement in the coming election. The letter also calls attention to much needed child labor legislation.

The Library Committee gratefully acknowledges gifts of books for the Circulating Library: from the Religious Education Department, through Dr. William I. Lawrance, "Church School Administration", by E. Morris Fergusson; from Miss Lowell, a copy of Mr. Rihbany's latest book, "Wise Men from the East and from the West", and "The Psalms in Human Life" by Rowland E. Prothero; from an appreciative reader, "Immortality and Theism", by W. W. Fenn. Other accessions are: "How to Run a Little Sunday-School", by Dr. E. Morris Fergusson; "Aspects of Modern Unitarianism", by Alfred Hall and others; "Sarah Flower Adams", by H. W.

Stephenson; "The Old Testament in the Light of Today," by W. F. Badè.

Appeals were endorsed, as will appear in another column, and it was voted to print a statement about all the Appeals now on the list, with the belief that more branches will contribute, and that larger gifts will come, if the facts about the several Appeals are clearly understood.

The International Committee made full and interesting report. Mrs. William L. Voigt of the committee, wrote from Prague of the rapid growth of the Unitarian movement there. Mrs. Capek expects to organize the women at once. The work in Italy is starting with fresh enthusiasm.

The Committee on Southern Work announced a hopeful beginning in North Carolina, where Rev. Margaret Barnard has already had two preaching services at Swansboro, and one at White Oak, with good attendance of men and women. The schools are pronounced to be most promising.

This is the time to stress co-operation. The chairmen of the central committees are prepared to send information about the several lines of work to those who seek such help, and they will visit branches as far as possible. Miss Mary F. Gill has spent a good part of October in Maine, where she has aroused much interest in Friendly Links and the Junior Alliance.

This year we are to be asked to help bring about the spiritual invigoration of our churches through work by and with our young people. Each branch will find some way in which to co-operate with the local Y. P. R. U., or other organization of young people, leaving to them some important service for the church.

The resignation of Mrs. J. E. Maynard, a Massachusetts director, was accepted with regret.

The Unity Club of Rockland, Mass., has become an Evening Alliance, Mrs. H. E. Patterson, Rec. Sec., 889 North Union St., Rockland, Mass.

On hearing of the death of Miss Annie S. Priestley, the Board voted to send a message of sympathy to the family and to the Northumberland, Pa., Alliance, of which Miss Priestley was president.

A letter from Miss Hargrove spoke with regret of leaving Melbourne, Australia, where Miss Lee has served our church for several months. From Melbourne, Miss Lee and Miss Hargrove visit Brisbane and Sydney, and then Capetown, sailing for England December 12, on the S. S. Benalla from Durban, South Africa. The good wishes of The Alliance go with them, with sincere appreciation of all that their visit has meant to Alliance branches and friends in the United States and Canada.

Miss Lowell brings word that good modern books will be very much appreciated in the library at Angora, Minn., where Mrs. Lappala is minister. These may be sent to Mrs. Milma S. Lappala, 802 South 3d Ave., Virginia, Minn.

At the next meeting, November 10, reports will be received from the Rocky Mountains and six Massachusetts directors.

Caroline S. Atherton, Secretary.

INTERNATIONAL UNION.

The meeting of the "International Union of Liberal Christian Women" was held in the drawing room of a friendly Dutchwoman, and among others present were Frau Beth (the head of the affiliated society in Vienna), Madame Capek, of Prague, Fraulein Carola Barth, Miss Van Eck and Mrs. Kastelyn, of Leiden, Miss Ruth Nettlefold, of Birmingham, and the International Secretary (Miss H. Brooke Herford). The Rev. W. H. Drummond, to whom much gratitude is due for making the holding of such a meeting possible, attended as a sort of connecting link between the Congress and the Union.

Fraulein Carola Barth presided. The Secretary read a report showing that since its formation in 1910 the Union had held two public meetings, in Paris and in Boston, U. S. A., and that in June, 1914, a smaller meeting had been held in London. Fraulein Barth described the special difficulties under which the Liberal Religious cause was suffering at the moment in her country, of the increasing arrogance of the orthodox bodies in Prussia, and their overwhelming preponderance in the great assembly of Prussian churches, of which she herself was a member. She said that all their difficulties were made harder by the terrible expense of keeping even the smallest religious periodical going, to say nothing of the almost impossibility of publishing liberal religious literature for other educational and propagandist work.

Miss Van Eck introduced the subject of the "Guild of Friendship," and urged that the time had once more come to develop this part of the work of the Union. The Guild of Friendship was instituted to carry out one of the objects of the Union, namely, the care and protection of young foreigners of the Liberal Faith, specially young women and girls. Mention was made of the increase of Friendly Correspondence between women of the different countries.

There followed a discussion on possible ways of bringing items of international interest to the notice of the general body of the Liberal Movement, especially in England.

The Secretary said that a scheme was now being considered by her own Foreign Committee in London, and she spoke of the extreme difficulty in arousing in the average Unitarian woman any interest in International movements even that so closely touching her as the Liberal Religious Movement abroad. The Rev. W. H. Drummond said that a suggestion had been made that an International Congress Quarterly should be published, and if this took shape the Union would have a better opportunity than heretofore of making its aim and work known.

Another suggestion made, was that English and American literature (tracts or leaflets) that were found to be acceptable and useful in other countries should be translated in England and then should be printed in those countries; the expense being borne by the English society. The present rate of exchange making the cost of such printing very small for the Union to bear, though it would be quite productive for the country concerned.

The proceedings closed with a few words from Fraulein Barth expressing her deep feeling of joy that it had been possible to hold the meeting, and her fervent hope that it will be the forerunner of many others and the starting point of much good work.

The night before, Miss Van Eck and the International Secretary entertained their foreign guests, and over tea and some delicious Dutch cakes there was a most cheerful and friendly polyglot chatter, all conducing to make the occasion, though so informal, not the least among many pleasant memories of the International week in Leiden.

(International committees will wish to share with their branches this report of the meeting held in Leiden in August, 1922, which is taken from the "Monthly Letter" of the British League.)

COMMITTEE ON YOUNG PEOPLE.

The Young People, as a subject, played a prominent part in the morning meeting of the New England Associate Alliance in Portland, Maine, on October 19. A great deal of interest is being shown in you and in your cause.

Mrs. Cloyd H. Valentine assured the ladies that the young people are working for their churches, and not entirely for themselves. She asked that the young people be called on to help to solve the problems of the other church organizations. Be ready with your suggestions if you are asked! Mrs. Valentine also suggested as possible topics for a year's work, the following: "Our Part in the World" by Ella Lyman Cabot; "Comparative Religions"; and a "History of Unitarianism". For evening lectures with stereopticon pictures are suggested: "Transylvania"; "The Children's Mission"; and "Pilgrims, English and American". If you wish information regarding speakers and pictures apply to the Y. P. R. U. headquarters at 25 Beacon Street. Mrs. Valentine urged co-operation with all the other Unitarian organizations.

Mrs. S. M. Crothers, of Cambridge, encouraged the continued facing of realities, which she feels that the young people are at present doing.

Rev. Robert Singsen, of West Somerville, said that nature provides youth to keep an open-mindedness. That is a great responsibility! He also said that we have the "most sane, most powerful, and most needed Gospel for spiritual life", and that we must "believe in our message".

Let us prove that this interest is justified, and give the Unitarian denomination cause to be proud of the Young People.

Helen Tufts, Chairman.

A MESSAGE FROM OMAHA.

Let us search until we find the Gospel of Unitarianism and then let us proclaim it; let us proclaim even the little we know of it now; a Gospel of affirmation; of worship to God as well as service to man. Only God makes religion vital.

I am repeating these things to you because if there are needs that are not satisfied we should take heed of them. There may be something for us to do as a church besides hearing the best sermons and the best music, reading the best books and magazines, eating the best dinners, meeting the best people and making the best contributions to any given cause. I am certain that if we are able to assure the unchurched of society that we can give them what they know they need, our pews will not be able to hold them. It is for the already over-burdened minister to find out what these needs are. We, the lay-members, mingling daily with our neighbors, knowing what they are thinking and saying, are the outposts, the pickets on the firing line. In speaking thus freely to you who are better and wiser than I, I am trying as best I may, to make plain the vision I have of a more serviceable organization. I realize fully what I am letting myself in for if I am not understood, if I have not made it clear that no amount of telling people what we believe, will draw them to us. They are asking us "What does your religion mean to you, what would it mean to me personally?"

(From a paper given by Mrs. Grant Parsons before the Omaha Alliance.)

NEW ENGLAND ASSOCIATE ALLIANCE.

No words will adequately express the satisfaction and enthusiasm of the delegates and friends who attended the autumn meeting of the Associate Alliance in Portland, Maine, October 18 and 19. Each New England state answered the roll call and the attendance was large, the one disappointment being that Maine and southern New Hampshire did not avail themselves of the opportunity to attend a meeting in their neighborhood.

At the evening session, which was a deeply religious service, Rev. H. E. B. Speight, after speaking of his summer's visit, made an eloquent appeal for sympathetic understanding and continued moral and financial support of the efforts of our fellow Unitarians in Transylvania. Mrs. Dudley H. Ferrell, of Lynn, contributed a solo, which was greatly appreciated.

At the morning session, in addition to the printed program, Mrs. John Murdock gave an idea of the way she is carrying on her work among the Italians of Montpelier, Vt., a work which was initiated by this Associate Alliance. Miss Lowell took her hearers with her through Minnesota as far as Edmonton.

In Miss Tufts' letter to the young people, printed elsewhere, is a synopsis of that part of the program. Miss Beard's very practical talk on the "Big Little Things" will appear in WORD AND WORK. Mrs. Crothers' paper will be typed for lending.

The hospitality of Portland will be talked of for many a day.

It is not unusual to hear from ex-presidents of branches that they miss the Manual and WORD AND WORK and the touch with Alliance Headquarters which they enjoyed while in office. One remedy is to become a life member, the fee for which is $25, and so to have all publications, and a vote at business meetings of The Alliance. Some branches have the happy custom of presenting a retiring officer, or a faithful member, with this life membership. The fund is invested and the income is used for the good work we are carrying forward.

Mrs. St. John has received from the Hungarian women a limited supply of embroideries of the kind so much appreciated last year. These will be placed on sale at 25 Beacon Street, Monday, December 4, from 12 to 4 o'clock.

APPEALS.

An interesting Appeal has come from the Committee on Recruiting the Ministry, for $200 to help make it possible for a student preparing for the ministry to secure his training. This is the first time The Alliance has co-operated with this committee, and the Board heartily recommends the Appeal.

An Appeal from Dr. William I. Lawrance of the Isles of Shoals Summer Meetings Association, for the renovation of the Thomas H. Elliott Hall at Star Island, Isles of Shoals, has been received. The Board endorses an Appeal for $300 for this work, bespeaking on the part of our members a greater recognition of the unique spiritual opportunity offered at the Shoals.

The International Committee has recommended the renewal of the Appeal for Work in Italy, for $600. The outlook is most promising in both centers, for the work carried on by Signor and Signora Puglisi at Florence, and that undertaken with such devotion by Signora Giulio Benso, in Turin.

The Appeal for the Sunday-School Worker is renewed for $600. This means that in co-operation with the Religious Education Department, The Alliance will make possible the services of trained supervisors, who will visit such Sunday-Schools as may make application for their help. It is expected that the local church will provide room and board for the worker. This is one of the most satisfactory pieces of co-operation of the past few years. All will wish to join in it.

Effie E. Whitman, Chairman.

Wise Men from the East and from the West

By

ABRAHAM MITRIE RIHBANY

Author of America, Save the Near East, A Far Journey, The Syrian Christ, etc.

Crown 8vo, $2.50 postpaid

A NOTABLE interpretation of the East to the West that illuminates present conditions in Turkey and the Near East. Mr. Rihbany explains the Eastern type of mind, analyzes the religious, industrial, and social differences, considers the reasons for the present revolt of the East against European domination, and points out the remedies for present conditions.

A Syrian by birth, now one of America's leading clergymen, the author was a delegate of Syria to the Peace Conference, and thoroughly understands the viewpoint both of the Orient and of the Occident. His book is of extraordinary timeliness: a study essential for every American who wants to understand the tragedy of Smyrna — and after.
